St Monica's parish finances and the Terrebonne bike lane

What the public record shows, 2008–2024

The question and the record

- Hypothesis heard in the debate: the protected lane built on rue de Terrebonne in May–June 2024 hurt the parish's finances (a first deficit, fewer weddings and funerals, parking).
- Record: the public financial section of the parish's 17 T3010 returns, 2008–2024 (CRA data request, then the CRA's open-data files); the parish's own statements from its bulletins (2017–March 2023); all 519 bulletins of its website (2014–Oct 2026); the returns of the 12 other Catholic parishes of the same postal areas; the parish's Facebook page.
- Limits: fiscal years are calendar years; the 2024 return holds seven months with the lane; the 2025 return (first full year) is not yet published; the returns give totals, not counts of weddings or funerals, and attribute nothing to any cause.
- Method: everything is built by scripts from the raw files; no figure is typed by hand; every quotation is from a dated public document.

Headline numbers, fiscal 2024

- Total revenue $250,718: −6 % on 2023, −4 % on 2022, above 2020–2021; inside the 2019–2023 range.
- Receipted gifts $201,562 (−2 %); gifts without receipt $18,311; rental income $15,339 (level); « other revenue » $15,506: faith-education fees and vigil lights, not funerals or weddings.
- Expenditures $269,373; revenue less expenditures −$18,655: the third deficit in a row (2022 −$31,771, 2023 −$8,240) and the seventh of 17 years. Compensation rose by $15,783, more than the deficit's increase ($10,415).
- Cash $197,111 and liabilities $180,109, both at a series high; the return does not say why.

Weddings and funerals: what the return can and cannot show

- No line of the return is for weddings or funerals.
- The line the parish labelled « masses, funeral, weddings » in 2011 carried $32,913 to $63,217 a year in 2008–2014; it has been nearly empty since 2015, the year a line of unreceipted gifts ($24,600) first appeared.
- The parish's own statements put hall rentals, bequests, funerals and weddings in one « other income » line: $83,157 in 2019, $66,260 in 2020, while the return's line 4650 was empty.
- A sum paid at a wedding or funeral can sit on four different lines (receipted gift, unreceipted gift, rental, other revenue) by the parish's own practice; the CRA does not require receipts, and anonymous cash cannot be receipted.
- No public source counts the parish's weddings or funerals.

The twelve neighbouring parishes

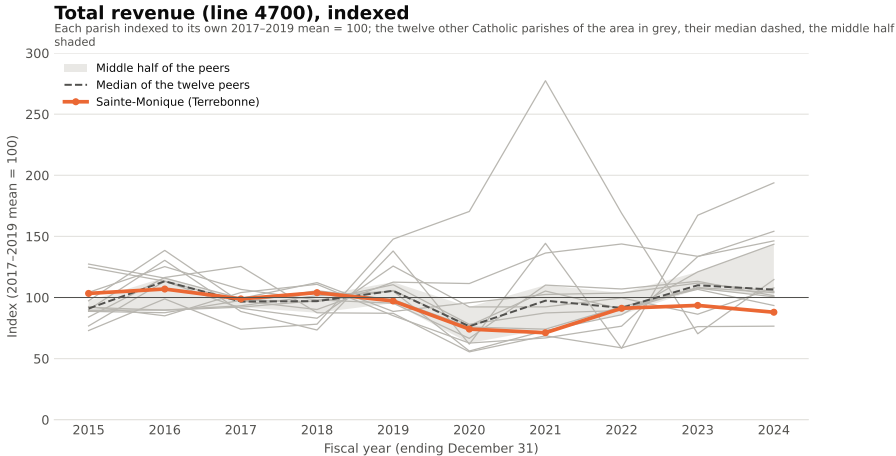

- The other Catholic parishes (fabriques) of Côte-des-Neiges, Snowdon, Westmount, NDG and Côte-Saint-Luc, from the CRA's 2024 identification file; their returns 2015–2024 from the same open-data files.
- Gifts compared as both gift lines added, because the receipted share runs from 39 % to 100 % across parishes (92 % at Sainte-Monique). Each parish indexed to its own 2017–2019 mean.
- 2023 to 2024: Sainte-Monique's gifts $-$6.1 % vs the peers' median $+$0.8 % (rank 10 of 13); total revenue $-$6.0 % vs $+$5.0 % (rank 9). Seven peers rose, five fell, three by more.
- Above the peers' median in 2022, below from 2023: the gap opened before the lane.
- Caveats: twelve parishes, some with large movements of their own; the returns say nothing of what happened at any of them.

What this record could detect

- Noise: the standard deviation of the eight pre-lane year-to-year changes (2015–2023), with and without the three pandemic transitions. Threshold: two standard deviations. A gauge with eight observations, not a test.
- Parish alone, gifts: threshold 15 to 26 % of a year's gifts. Against the peers' median: 14 to 16 points.
- The lane covered seven of twelve months of 2024: a lane effect would have had to remove 25 to 45 % of the parish's full-year gifts (21 to 50 % of total revenue) to stand apart in the 2024 return.
- Observed in 2024: −6 % on gifts, −7 points against the peers.
- The 2025 return (a full year) lowers the detectable effect to 14 to 26 %; two full years to 10 to 18 %.

The parish's own statements

- Published in the weekly bulletins: monthly statements 2017–2019 and January 2020, the 2020 vs 2019 balance sheet and income statement (approved October 2021), the twelve months of 2022, January–March 2023. None since March 2023.
- Cross-check: year-end statements and returns agree to the dollar for 2019, 2020 and 2022; the 2020 balance sheet matches every asset and liability line of the return.
- The statements add what the return lacks: the parish's own revenue categories, the wage subsidy and the $30,000 emergency loan of 2020, the month-by-month pattern (a 2022 deficit of $80,813 at end November, closed to $31,770 by December's collections).
- The series ends fourteen months before the lane; no monthly figure exists for 2024 or 2025.

The bulletins and the Facebook page since the lane

- In the 117 bulletins dated July 1, 2024 to October 18, 2026: 0 references to the bike lane, 0 to financial difficulties linked to it, 0 to parking difficulties. Across all 519 issues since 2014, « bike » occurs once (a 2019 green-church note).
- The same bulletins are not confined to spiritual matters: a municipal-election appeal (October 2025), petitions and legislation campaigns, the MacKay Center weekend-parking passes (announced October 15, 2023, seven months before the lane), a 75th-anniversary repairs campaign ($163,858 raised in 2024–25; columns restored, windows replaced by 2026).
- A « Save St. Monica's » rally was announced for November 24, 2024 without any stated reason; no bulletin reports its result.
- The Facebook page campaigned against the 2020 temporary lane (petition, council questions); since the 2024 lane its one official comment on bike lanes (August 14, 2024) shared an article in which Philadelphia congregations gave up parking in a bike lane to stop alienating their neighbours. It has never stated a financial effect.

Conclusion

- No figure in the 2024 return stands apart from the parish's own 2019–2023 variation or from its neighbours' changes.
- The deficits of 2022 and 2023 precede the lane; the gap to the neighbouring parishes opened in 2023.
- The revenue lines nearest the claims (gifts, loose gifts, rentals, the former funerals-and-weddings line) are within or above their recent range in 2024.
- A measurable impact is neither established nor excluded: it would have had to be of the order of a quarter of a year's gifts to show in a seven-month return.
- What would test it: the 2025 return read against the peers; monthly figures, which the parish stopped publishing in 2023; counts of weddings and funerals, which no public source holds.
